BAY ST. LOUIS—MISSISSIPPI, SATURDAY, AUGUST 15, 1925.

34TH YEAR—NO. 33.

BAY ST. LOUIS A PROGRESSIVE CITY OF CHARM, BEAUTY

Sublime in Nature's Setting—Irrisistible and Compelling—City Is Growing and Prosperous. City One Loves to Live In.

By Chas. G. Moreau, in Mississippi Builder, Jackson, Miss.

Bay St. Louis, on the Mississippi Gulf Coast, a city of subtle charm and enduring beauty! What a name to conjure with.

Irrisistible, compelling, sublime, in nature's setting, Bay St. Louis is calling. The beauty of the bay, from which the city takes part of its name, has frequently been compared to the Bay of Naples, minus Vesuvius.

Bay St. Louis is one of the oldest places on the Gulf Coast in the State, and possibly in the country. Who knows? For when the footprints of the white man made its impress on the sands that glisten in the sun along the beach strand, the village was occupied by Indians, known later as the tribe of Choctaws.

In the days gone by the village was called Chicapoula, the Indian for bad grass, just as the term Biloxi stands for broken pot. There is Indian folklore along the Mississippi Gulf Coast, from Pascagoula to Bay St. Louis, and the latter place has a wealth of such legend. Many a charming legend was written and published locally by the late Mrs. Gertrude Gowan Penny, whose data was authoritative.

Bienville landed on the Mississippi Coast on August 25th, the feast of St. Louis, and for this reason the Indian village of Chicapoula, oak-shored and moss fringed, later a fishing village of many whites in that halcyon time was called Bay St. Louis. Thus the name is fitting and appropriate. A bay named for St. Louis.

City Is Growing and Prosperous.
Bay St. Louis is today a city of many thousand souls, content and prosperous. Late years of public school, modern times have brought to Bay St. Louis many improvements and developments, keeping pace with other sections. The population has grown with that stride of a perfectly normal and healthy growth, until today it vies not only with other cities of the State and elsewhere.

A City One Loves to Live in.
As a residential city its claims are paramount. No section has more and better schools. There are public schools for white and black, three city schools, denominational schools for white and black and a college for boys and boarding academy for girls. Both St. Stanislaus and St. Joseph Academy have long passed the half century mark and each are impressed in the hearts of a large clientele.

The City Council at present is planning to set a movement on foot whereby in January it hopes to set in motion the effort to issue bonds in the amount of $100,000 for the building of a Central High School, of proportion and equipment commensurate with the growth and dignity of the city.

City Owns Waterworks System.
Recently Bay St. Louis installed a waterworks system at a cost of $92,000.00, municipally operated, the tower system in vogue; with water sufficient from a source offered by a series of artesian wells. The water is palatable, containing in a measure medicinal value, and only recently another laboratory analysis by the State Board of Health declared the water absolutely pure. The test was made at the direction of Mayor R. W. Webb.

Bay St. Louis has various churches, many of the number representing the various denominations. As schools and churches are outstanding requisites for a community where man and his family may dwell in the proper moral environment so much desired, there should be no hesitancy to come to Bay St. Louis, the "City Beautiful" and the "City of Homes."

There are organizations of all kinds here, fraternal, benevolent and social. Of the latter, the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club is of the number among those more outstanding, combining the features of both a club for aquatic pastime as well as that of a country club, forming a happy combination. E. J. Leonard is the head of the B. W. Y. C.

Bay St. Louis, too, has its Rotary Club, and its weekly meet at the Weston Hotel is an occasion eagerly anticipated. The Bay St. Louis Rotary is the outstanding civic organization of the city.

City of Splendid Banks.
If a city is to be judged by its banks and since figures always tell the truth, Bay St. Louis is fortunate in this respect, to say nothing of the quality of the institutions.

There are two banks, the Hancock County Bank, the city's first to be organized, with present resources of over two million dollars, and the Merchants Bank and Trust Company, nearing the million-dollar mark.

The Hancock County Bank has a branch at Pass Christian and another at Logtown, Miss. H. S. Weston is president and Leo W. Seal cashier of the Hancock County Bank. George H. Rea is president and Val W. Yates cashier of the Merchants Bank and Trust Company.

The hand of progress is dominant in Bay St. Louis and Hancock county. Already the county has entered

KILN PRODUCES FIRST BALE OF COTTON FOR HANCOCK COUNTY

(Special to The Sea Coast Echo.)

Leonard Fredericks and his tenant, Theodore Jackson, both colored, who have 23 acres of half and half and mixed, ginned their first bale at Picaune July 31st. They received 25 cents a pound and a barrel of flour as a premium, given by the merchants of Picaune.

This is a proven fact that cotton can, with the proper precautions, be raised successfully and rather profitably this near the Coast. One of the precautions is early planting. These negroes planted their seed March 7th and thereby got ahead of the weevil. In all their cotton only one weevil has been found. Owing to a rather wet season, the rust affected it some. They had estimated their yield at about sixteen bales, but owing to unfavorable season they hope for ten or twelve bales. They already have ginned three bales.

Last year there was not an acre planted to cotton in the Kiln vicinity, but this year there are about fifty acres, and several more are planning on planting a few acres next year. Messrs. Eddie and Sam Favre have five acres this year and several colored farmers have small patches.

Kiln School Opens August 24.
Superintendent Powell announces that the Kiln Vocational School will begin the 1925-26 session Monday, August 24th. It had been planned to open on the 17th, but owing to delay of getting materials for the new building the opening date is postponed until the 24th.

The new building that is being rushed to completion will be dedicated with a luncheon on the evening of the 26th and all patrons and friends of the school are invited to attend. There will be several prominent men of the State to speak on this occasion.

The following will comprise the faculty: Prof. S. P. Powell, superintendent; Prof. G. W. Hillis, Yehie, assistant mathematics; Miss Gladys Duret, Columbus, home economics and history; Miss Louise Dawson, Memphis, commercial and English; Sam Howard, Natchez, agriculture; Alphonse Dubuisson, Kiln, sixth grade; Mrs. Ed. Madison, Kiln, fifth grade; Miss Jessie Cuevas, Fenton, fourth grade; Miss Regina Negrotto, Lafayette, La., third grade; Miss Martha Hall, Logtown, primary assistant; Mrs. Thomas Doby, Kiln, primary; Misses Duret and Dawson are already in, lining up their work before hand.

Kiln Defeats Lumberton.
Quite a close and interesting game was played on the local diamond last Sunday between Kiln and Lumberton. Both Phillips for Kiln, and Freeman for Lumberton, pitched excellent ball, with Freeman having a slight edge. Phillips was credited with 7 strike outs and was touched for 8 safeties, while Freeman was credited with 10 strike outs and was touched for 6 safeties. Lumberton was guilty of making 4 costly errors, which practically cost them the game. Kiln was guilty of only 2 errors, Catcher Seller dropping the ball after tagging a man out at home. Outfielder Mauffray making the other on a very difficult fly.

Manager Brooks had to use a patched up outfield, due to the absence of several of his regular players, but both "subs." gave a good account of themselves. Burke, regular left gardener, played his usual bang-up game, making several difficult catches. Shortstop Cure made a dandy catch of a line drive, throwing the ball to first, which completed a double play.

We were glad to see "Sammy" and his fine team and it's a pleasure to us to engage in any contest with a clean bunch of sportsmen like the Lumberton team. They proved to be, again, you friendly enemies, for we will always be glad to see you, but come a little stronger next time.

Batteries: For Kiln, Phillips and Seller. For Lumberton, Freeman and Kelly.

Umpires: Levine and Hyde.
Score: Lumberton 2, Kiln 5.
Coach O. Herring kept the crowd enraptured by his antics.

upon and is completing a program of road building to cover every highway and byway. There will be no better roads in Mississippi than in Hancock county.

Paved Streets For the City.
Paved streets for Bay St. Louis is no longer a dream. Main street is already hard surfaced throughout the city limits. Bonds in the amount of $180,000.00 were recently sold for extending the city's paving program, with the municipal charter already amended authorizing an additional 5-mill tax levy for hard surfacing street purposes. There are active evidences of progress and permanent improvements that unmistakably show how well Bay St. Louis is forging ahead.

Like the balance of the Mississippi Gulf Coast, Bay St. Louis and vicinity in Hancock county, enjoy remarkably advanced realty values, and there is plenty of value here to sustain every investment with a liberal margin.

Bay St. Louis is admirably located. Its proximity to New Orleans, 52 miles, is an advantage not to be lost sight of. With Waveland, summer resort, on the west, Bay St. Louis is the first of "Coast Seven Cities" as one is traveling eastward. Bay St. Louis is both a summer and winter resort, and the recent completion of the Hotel Weston will provide accommodations for many visitors. If interested further, write the Mississippi Builder, the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club or to the local newspaper. The Sea Coast Echo, published weekly.

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT.

Son of Mrs. Joseph Haspel, of New Orleans, in Road Smashup.

The two sons of Mrs. Joseph Haspel, of Leonard avenue, Richard and Joseph, Jr., met with an accident Wednesday afternoon while driving their Ford sedan in Second street. It appears that the boys were driving when, before they realized it, they along leisurely "kidding" each other, were out of the road. When Joseph who was driving found that he was off of the roadway and an accident inevitable, he got excited and in an effort to extricate himself smashed into a tree, wrecking the car and injuring both.

Someone at once wired to Dr. David Haspel, at New Orleans, an uncle of the unfortunate boys, that his own sons were hurt; whereupon the physician at once engaged a special train on the L. & N. and came posthaste to Bay St. Louis.

When the train, speeding along at a terrific rate, approached the Rigollets, a negro employee of the road, riding on a hand car, was overrun and killed. The negro, thinking probably that the train would stop, stuck to the car. The engine hit the hand car and killed the unfortunate man.

Reaching the Bay the doctor at once took the boys to the King's Daughters' Hospital at Gulfport, where the surgeons found that their injuries were painful but not serious. After being attended, the young men were brought home, where at last accounts they were resting nicely with the chances for rapid recovery all in their favor.

DEATH CALLS GOOD WOMAN.

Mrs. John Brown Dies in New Orleans.

Death, the great arbiter of humanity, the merciless and swift coming spirit that makes no distinctions. The Reaper of souls, who comes like a thief in the night and takes the nursing babe from the arms of its fond mother, the laboring father from the fields and the mother from the fire-side of her beloved.

So came the dark-winged spirit of Eternity to the fireside of one of Hancock county's well known citizens, Mrs. John Brown, of Logtown, and when the portals close behind the receding spirit, a loving wife, a fond and beloved mother had been snatched from the home she loved so well.

Falling desperately ill recently, Mrs. Brown was hastened to the Presbyterian Hospital in New Orleans, all that medical skill could do was to no avail and on Friday, August 7th, she passed away.

The funeral services, conducted by the Rev. Drs. Murray and Schultz, were held at Turtle Skin Cemetery on Saturday.

Mrs. Brown was born Eugenia Lott and was 48 years of age. She leaves, besides her husband and son, Thornton, two brothers, Messrs. Anthony and Andrew Lott, of the Kiln. Mrs. Brown was the able assistant of that master coach, Forster, Comma-gere, has managed.

The New Orleans Times-Picayune, in reference to Bro. Peter, says that he is one of the most popular and "lives" of athletic directors among Southern institutions. We know that is true and Bay St. Louis is proud of him.

During the absence of Bro. Peter, Bro. Edmund will attend to the duties of the director and manage that department, he having worked with Bro. Peter many years and is conversant with the duties of the position.

There's one thing that we can "bank" on. The delegates at Renteria, Spain, will hear of old Stanislaus, with its biggest booster among them.

DIED.
Mrs. Louise Ames, at Pensacola, Fla. Mrs. Louise Ames, mother of Mrs. Will Seigerson, of this city, died in Pensacola, Fla., on Wednesday, August 12th, at the home of her son, Dr. Allan Ames.

The remains were sent to her old home at Ocean Springs, where interment took place on Thursday.

Mrs. Ames is survived by two children, Mrs. Seigerson and Dr. Allan Ames. The Echo extends sympathy to the bereaved.

Raids.

By BARTHOLOMEW RISSBANE.

Like a soap bubble, blown to a large, beautiful balloon, floating on the ambient air, rainbow hued and glorious, scintillating in the sun's rays, then suddenly bursting and coming to naught. Such the case of Mary Louise Spas, the curly-haired Cinderella who was chosen from twelve thousand to be adopted by a millionaire.

The beautiful bubble blown for her by Fate had its moment of floating in the air—then—decidedly punctured it and now but a memory remains—a memory of roses turned to thistles.

"What a tangled web we weave
When first we practice to deceive."
Verily 'tis so. Deceit like murder
"will out"—and very often leaves a life scar upon the deceiver.

Never a day passes but what the flaring heads of newspaper columns announce a murder. As a rule, the general public have come to regard it as part of the press "menu," but the same general public stop short and shudder when they read of patricide or matricide, and are aghast at both.

We read of a youth who fancies a terrible grievance against his parents and shoots them both, killing the father and wounding his mother.

We ask ourselves: What is the why of it all? Our own answer is that parents themselves are to blame, very often. Men allow their sons to be raised by a lenient, doting mother without taking the trouble or time to get acquainted and friends with their boys.

No boy in the world is going to shoot the Dad who has been his pal, who takes an interest in him and his ambitions.

Try it, ye fathers; be the big chums of your little boys and see what a revelation it will be to you.

A news item from California advises us that a parcel was opened and in it was found the finger of a human being. Was it the prank of a practical joker or was it something that reeked of the vendetta? It is a gruesome thing to find in one's mail, no matter what the object.

It calls to mind a certain Bay boy who studied medicine in New Orleans. He carried a human finger about as a pocket piece and appeared to enjoy the shudders of those who gazed upon it.

The Mobile Register published a remarkable photo of the family of Mr. and Mrs. Huffmasher the other day. The family is composed of thirteen children, besides the father and mother, and the whole fifteen members are red-headed. It is a rule in animals to run thus, but seldom do we find the family of humans sticking to the main line.

The writer witnessed the proceeds of the great liquor raid in the Crescent City last Wednesday. Five large trucks loaded to capacity with sacks "cases" and many five-gallon cans of alcohol were placed under heavily armed guard, into a great room in the customhouse. The result of a great fell swoop made up on the vendors of the stuff by government agents in the city of New Orleans. Great crowds of curious men and women looked upon the scene. Many mouths were leaking. A wise looking man standing at my elbow remarked, "They got a lot of it, alright, but did you ever try to rid yourself of ants with a stick? This old burg will never be dry."

PUBLIC MUST STAND BEHIND FOREST CONSERVATION WORK.

An Issue of Vital Importance to All the People.

"What are we going to do when our forests are gone," is a question that many people are now asking. The answer is, if proper attention is given to the work of forest conservation, for the general public, by the public, the situation need not be alarming.

To begin with, there are several important essentials that should be considered. Proper reforestation of a sufficient area of present cut-over land adapted to forest growing, and effective and comprehensive prevention and suppression of forest fires.

The most important of these is forest fires. Government statistics indicate that forest fires annually burn over nine million acres of timber lands and cause a damage of nearly $20,000,000. If this loss was measured in accordance with the future value of the timber and all industrial operations with near and remote economic loss, it is estimated that the damage would reach the stupendous total of $500,000,000.

In Mississippi, the yearly damage to forests on the above basis would run into millions. This is an item that must be given the support of the public before much can be done with reforestation.

To meet the possibility of a great increase in the wood working industry in this State due to the use of hydro-electric power, the full interest of the public should be given to lessen this yearly loss by co-operating in the suppression and prevention of the forest fire evil.

Letters to every Rotary Club on the Mississippi Gulf Coast have been mailed with the request that every effort be exerted to have the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company reinstate the Wednesday excursions, which before the war proved so popular and was a big feeder for the Gulf Coast. If it is too late to inaugurate the Wednesday excursion this season, surely it should be put on for next year. We can well remember the old days of the Wednesday excursion, many a week run in two and three sections, and bringing thousands to the Coast who otherwise would not visit. It was a means of many visitors remaining from Sunday to Wednesday, and vice versa. If the Rotary Club will succeed in this move it will have accomplished a great move. It might be well for others to co-operate and assist and not leave it all to the Rotary Club.

PERSONAL CHAT WITH THE MAN WHO IS TO BUILD COAST HOTEL

(Editorial Correspondence.)

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 11, 1925.

"We have not a vacant room tonight," said W. M. Dewey, president and general manager of the Edgewater Beach Hotel, to me. "There are 1,100 rooms, with bath attached, and we have at this moment 1,600 guests."

"Mr. Marshall, our architect, is at work at his studio on plans for the new Edgewater Gulf Hotel, to be located between Biloxi and Gulfport, and we hope to be able to open on Christmas Eve night, 1926."

Speaking of our possibilities, he said we were like the people of Florida before development took place. We await for the outsider to recognize our climate, land and other natural advantages. Thousands from over the country are pouring into Florida and getting rich, while the native and pioneer simply look on.

"We will have no trouble to keep our hotel on the Mississippi Gulf Coast filled," continued Mr. Dewey. "For instance, you see here tonight we have vaudeville numbers on our open air theatre over Lake Michigan (and facing the Marine, main dining room); then, over to the side, on the beach, we have our marble floors filled with dancers. The orchestra, Edgewater Beach Hotel Orchestras, is playing for the dancers and at the same time is broadcasting over WEBB."

This hotel is eight miles from the city proper, built on the beach, and is the handsomest thing in its line yet. Service and entertainment are two watchwords. Mr. Dewey told me no one ever remains at a hotel where there was nothing to attract or entertain. Extreme good taste prevails throughout, yet there is luxury and opulence on every side, without offending.

Mr. Dewey and party plan to be on the Gulf Coast September 2nd, to further accelerate the building operations of the Edgewater Gulf, to be built at a point between Gulfport and Biloxi, and has promised to visit Bay St. Louis and be my guest. He spoke of Inn-by-the-Sea, Shell-Beach-on-the-Bay, having visited at both places more than once. He is enthusiastic over the Mississippi Gulf Coast and says Chicago alone ought to keep the new and other hotels filled.

I attended the Chicago Rotary Club meeting here today and surely was no stranger, since I was from the Mississippi Gulf Coast. It was refreshing to be an hour and a half with these 125 Chicago business men, who not only talked business, but gave much of the time to entertainment, contrary to tradition. There were outside speakers and outside entertainers. They met every Tuesday noon at the Sherman Hotel. It was an inspiration to attend. I must acknowledge marked courtesies.

A WORD TO WALTONIANS.
The Bay St. Louis Chapter No. 2 of the Izak Walton League of America has made rapid strides in its membership campaign. We have now a chapter boasting of near two hundred members; a healthy organization, composed of the best men and women. The initial movement of the chapter has proven successful.

What the League wants and is determined to have is RESULTS. Unity of purpose requires unity of effort. The Waltonian purpose is to establish a protectorate over the bounties of Nature. The streams and the fish therein, the woods and its wild life; to keep it all beautiful and prosperous as nature intended.

The only manner in which this can be accomplished is by a unity of effort on the part of the whole membership of this chapter, Waltonians must get busy and get the desired results.

A meeting must be called, members must respond. The drafting of suitable laws governing the control of fish and game, must be made in such a manner as to be acceptable to the board of supervisors, that this body may adopt them and find means to their ultimate enforcement.

In order to obtain assistance from the national government towards stocking our streams, it is necessary to prove to their satisfaction that we have the laws and will see to their enforcement.

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Stagnant people spoil their vacations by worrying over the cost.

It's hard to slip on a banana peel without also slipping off.

Cook books and seed catalogues also contain a lot of heresies.

It's hard to convince a winner that gambling is entirely wicked.

Some start a running account and then proceed to run away from it.

Maybe, after all, he will go down in history as "Hindenburg the Silent."

Many are apprehensive that increased business this fall will hurt golf.

France and Spain have entered into a security pact against the Riffs.

Those who drink bootleg whiskey must do so as a matter of principle, rather than taste.

The President's secret for keeping cool is out. He recommends the reading of "Snowbound."

A lot of country boys are demonstrating the wonders of radio to their city cousins this summer.

Anyway the oil scandals served to keep the congressional investigating machinery lubricated.

The term "funeral home" was probably invented for the benefit of those who will never have any other kind.

The old fellow who serenaded his girl with a guitar has a son who gets quicker results with an auto horn.

It is noticeable that folks who talk so confidently about going to heaven never seem to be in any hurry to start.

A Nebraska exchange tells of a man who hadn't kissed his wife for a year, but whipped on an ice man who had. "Aren't men funny?"

Up-to-date correspondence schools will probably offer courses in evolution if a few more legislatures prohibit its teaching in State institutions.

A dispatch tells of a Sunday school class composed of deaf mutes that prays and even sings in the sign language. Wish some folks we know would sing that way.

L. B. Miller made the transcontinental trip from New York to San Francisco in 102 hours, 45 minutes, which he declares levered the best previous record by 7 hours. With the rapid extension of good roads no part of the country will seem very remote to ambitious motorists in a few years.

Governor Gunderson of South Dakota has again opened 24 State gas stations, whereby he claims about 3 cents a gallon will be saved to consumers. Whether there is any real saving or not can not be determined without knowledge of how much expense, if any, is paid through State taxation for administration and equipment.

During the visit of the American fleet to Australia elaborate entertainment and unusual courtesies were extended to officers and men. The old adage, "Blood is thicker than water," was paraphrased by signs in Australian bars which read "Beer is thicker than water, Mr. Gob." To the credit of the sailors it was reported that little drunkenness occurred.

Marchal Petain, of France, lately returned from an inspection of the forces in Morocco, told Premier Painleve that victory over the Riffs would probably take six months, but that a negotiated peace might be secured sooner. America is represented on the African front by a group of famous World War aces and several carloads of Missouri mules.

In comments on Bryan's death, many prominent men referred to their respect for the Commoner's sincerity, though differing from his views. Perhaps the most outspokenly antagonistic utterance came from Eugene V. Debs, who said: "The cause of human progress sustains no loss in the death of Mr. Bryan. It is customary to speak only good of the dead, but I prefer to speak the truth regarding men, living or dead."

President Coolidge took a number of reporters to task a few days ago for sending out dull season reports concerning his views that were not in accordance with the facts. Much unauthorized stuff has been published regarding the threatened coal strike, debt negotiations, rum running and other matters. He probably suggested that reports of Secretary Weeks' resignation should not be made often than once every two weeks.

STRANGE PROHIBITION TALK.

Whether it is merely wet propaganda or not, rumors concerning the proposed big prohibition drive by General Andrews and his rejuvenated force, soon to be reorganized, say that this is to be the final test of enforcement.

In other words the program now decided upon must succeed or the government will virtually give up enforcement as an impossibility.

This rumor first appeared about the time the Coast Guard fleet began its vigorous offensive on the Atlantic Coast. At that time it was said that President Coolidge had decided to put all the power of the administration behind enforcement for one year—then if satisfactory he would move for a modification of the Volstead law.

Last week two separate dispatches sent out by the International News Service repeated this rumor in connection with the report that several representatives of big business were to aid in the new drive as "dollar-a-year men." These industrial leaders, like the administration, are alarmed over the increase in general lawlessness which is attributed to the growing lack of respect for law, due to the Volstead act.

It is intimated that they have agreed with General Andrews that the law must be either enforced or modified, in the interest of national morality. Nearly $30,000,000 is available for prohibition enforcement during the present fiscal year and if the plans being made yield satisfactory results still more will be asked for next year's work.

The strange part of the situation, according to the current rumor, is that violators are practically notified that if they can manage to defy the government for another year enforcement will be called off. There may be nothing to this report, but hints of such an understanding among administration officials have been persistent for some time.

WORK OF A BLIND MAN.

Few men have contributed more to practical education than Sir Frederick Fraser, for many years superintendent of the school for the blind at Halifax, N. S., who died there a few weeks ago.

Himself blind, having suffered an injury to his eyes in childhood and losing his vision entirely at the age of 16, he completed his education at the Perkins Institute, in Boston, in 1873, since which time he labored for fifty years as superintendent of the Halifax school, retiring in 1923.

Throughout this half century of services, he was the recipient of better school facilities for the blind, establishing courses of instruction designed to make them useful citizens, and educating the public to use their services and products, so that they might be self supporting.

He took pains to see that his pupils might learn to go about without guides and all were encouraged to learn their way around the city unaided. Hundreds of sightless men and women owe to Prof. Fraser their ability to stand upon their own merits and skill, instead of being helpless charges upon society.

In recognition of his outstanding accomplishments and beneficent services, he was the recipient of many honors, including knighthood, university degrees, demonstrations of esteem on the part of his fellow citizens, and above all the lasting love and gratitude of those whom he had practically, if not literally, led from darkness to light.

KING PARDONS THOUSANDS.

In celebration of the 25th anniversary of his accession to the Italian throne, King Victor Emanuel III has given freedom to more than 10,000 political prisoners by an amnesty decree.

This merciful gesture is taken as being in the nature of an effort to relieve the tension which has existed on account of Premier Mussolini's stern measures in dealing with enemies of the Fascisti government.

Victor Emanuel was proclaimed king on August 1, 1900, following the assassination of his father, King Humbert, on July 29 of that year. His reign of a quarter of a century has been marked by many stirring events, including the war with Turkey in 1911-12 and the World War, when Italy withdrew from the Triple Alliance (Italy, Austria, Germany) and fought on the side of the Allies.

An unsuccessful attempt upon the King's life was made on March 14, 1912, while riding to the annual service at the Pantheon in honor of his father.

Affairs in Italy were more or less chaotic after the World War, until the advent of the Fascisti under Mussolini, who took charge of affairs in October, 1922, with acquiescence of the king.

Mussolini is the real power in Italy and has ruled with a stern hand, but while estimates of his capacity and motives are varied, his policies have no doubt been beneficial to his country, on the whole.

Victor Emanuel's action in freeing political prisoners will undoubtedly have a quieting effect and add to the king's already great personal popularity among his subjects.

DEALING WITH HERETICS.

Within a few weeks the case of Bishop Brown, of the Protestant Episcopal Church, convicted of heresy and sentenced to be deposed from his office, will come before the House of Bishops for final disposition.

Bishop Brown rejects the literal interpretation of the scriptures, but accepts them as an allegorical presentation of moral and spiritual truths. His trial a few months ago attracted wide attention and the action of the House of Bishops will also be a matter of considerable interest, although there appears to be little doubt that his sentence will be confirmed.

Many clergymen who are leaders in the growing Modernist movement hold some views in accord with Bishop Brown, but none has been so outspoken as he in publicly stating them. From the Fundamentalist standpoint there are many heretics occupying Christian pulpits today.

While trials for heresy have been few in American churches, the problem of dealing with heretics has engaged the attention of ecclesiastical authorities from the early days of Christianity. The stern methods adopted for the suppression of heresy during the Middle Ages reached their height of ferocity through the instrumentality of the Spanish Inquisition, established in 1480.

During the continuance of that terrible system, compilations from the records show that not less than 31,912 persons were burnt alive, while 291,450 suffered imprisonment and tortures worse than death.

A striking fact connected with the history of heresy is that the heretic of one age may become the saint of a later day. This is illustrated by the case of Joan of Arc, who was burnt at the stake in the streets of Rouen on May 30, 1431. Her sentence was "revoked" by the Pope on July 7, 1456 (more than 25 years after her death) and she was beatified by a later Pope at Rome on April 18, 1909.

It has been pointed out that Christ was put to death because of teachings considered heretical by the ecclesiastics of his time.

AN OUTSTANDING FEAT.

Did you ever go through a whole day's work without making a single false move, mentally or physically? Could you pound a typewriter at top speed or play a piano all day without striking a wrong key?

Well, young Jack Turley, of Hastings, Neb., did something similar to that, not only one day, but two days.

Turley is a linotype operator on the Hastings Tribune and set 1713 lines of type, involving the striking of keys approximately 59,000 times in eight hours without an error.

Another day he set 1,672 lines without a mistake. His usual daily output is said to show only from two to twelve errors. Think what that means to the fortunate individual who happens to be his boss.

No proof-reader would be necessary in handling his matter, for most proof-readers would overlook more mistakes than that. Many big newspapers are printed with typographical errors in nearly every column.

Turley's remarkable combination of brain and hand seems almost too valuable to devote to routine employment—even though it be that of such a rare individual as a capable linotype operator.

HOLIDAYS NECESSARY.

Dr. Charles H. Mayo, the noted Minnesota surgeon, declares that holidays are "necessary to the prolongation of life and the attainment of the highest achievements."

He especially commends the habit of English clerks and workmen, who usually spend their week-ends in the country or at the seashore, where they enjoy surroundings entirely different from those in which their daily tasks are pursued. This change of activity and scenery is the best possible recreation to prevent becoming fagged out from one's work, says Dr. Mayo.

There is no doubt that most persons fail to take advantage of their opportunities to get away from work for a time their regular occupations. The hustle and bustle of American town and city life are trying on both body and mind.

Perhaps we could do more and better work if we would make it a practice to spend our holidays, week-ends and vacations as far away from shop and office as possible.

Vice President Dawes showed much versatility in his recent Wyoming trip, when, in addition to his vacation job of lambasting Senate rules, he temporarily acted as director in making a moving picture, reviewed troops at Fort D. A. Russell, was inducted into the Sioux Indian tribe, smoked a large pipe of peace instead of his customary underslung, and was christened "Great White Feather No. 2."

To round out his program he entertained a jazz orchestra and later played the piano for and with them for an hour. He will probably dispense very little harmony in Washington.

While the percentage of divorces to marriages is increasing, it is not likely to go above 100 per cent.

TEACHERS CANNOT BREAK CONTRACT.

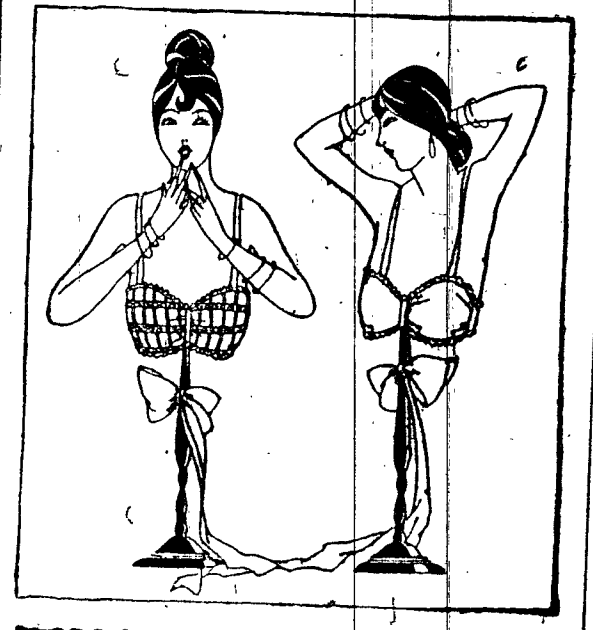

Weekly News Letter From Department of Education at Jackson, Mississippi.

By W. F. Bond.
Teachers who have contracted with the trustees for the next term of school cannot break that contract or be released from it without the consent of a majority of the trustees, according to Section 84, of the New School Code.

Any teacher who violates this section of the school law may have his license revoked for a period of one year. In general, we would say that no teacher under contract for next year can break that contract without being unfair and setting a bad example to the children he would instruct.

Minutes of last meeting were read and roll called by the secretary. Six members were present, six absent. The demonstration given were canning pears, chowchow and salad making. Whereas (Clement Harbor) is an unincorporated rural survey in Hancock County, State of Mississippi, the high ways leading therefrom from Bay St. Louis, through Waveland, and the streets and avenues and alleys of Clement Harbor, under the jurisdiction of the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi;

Whereas the Mississippi Power Company is a company authorized to erect upon such highways, streets, avenues, alleys and under the jurisdiction of the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, and has applied to the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, asking such Board by an order entered on its minutes to grant Mississippi Power Company a franchise in accordance with such statute;

(4) Whenever the grantee shall cause any opening or alteration to be made in any of the streets, avenues, alleys, ways, bridges or public places in Clement Harbor or the county highways from Bay St. Louis, leading therefrom, for the purpose of installing, maintaining, operating or repairing any poles, towers, conduits, cables or other appliances, the work shall be completed within a reasonable time and the grantee shall, upon the completion of such work, restore such portion of the streets, avenues, alleys, ways, bridges or other public places to as good condition as it was before the opening or alteration was so made.

(9) The grantee, its successors or assigns, shall within ninety (90) days after the passage of this order, file a written acceptance thereof with the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi.

(10) The rights granted or given are such and only such rights that the county has in the rights granted.

—Residents of Union street are alive with happy anticipation. Surveyors have driven grade stakes along from the beach to the L. & N., indicating an early paving. Eradicating the dust proposition is what these particular citizens are elated over.

—The regular Saturday night dances of the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club are proving immensely popular and visitors, particularly the younger set, find it a popular place and serves as a means of entertainment for the guests within our gates. The Bay-Waveland Yacht Club stands for much in this community and it is well it is patronized. Sustaining membership is prompted by civic pride and an effort to further build the community. We cannot commend too highly the usefulness of the club to the people and the niche it fills in the community life. Commodore Leonard and associates have built well and wisely.

—A party of more than sixty, composed of women and children, in three big trucks, spent the day in picnic last Thursday going as far as Biloxi. The picnicers were in charge of Mrs. John Bright. Arriving home that night the tired but happy crowd reported having a very delightful time.

—Mrs. Harry Bunck and children, of New Orleans, formerly local residents, motored over from Abita Springs last Sunday to pay her many friends a hasty call, returning the same day. Mrs. Bunck says that where the Springs are very nice, they are not in the same class with the good old Bay.

—Mrs. Camille Desdune entertained a few friends delightfully at a tea luncheon Thursday evening, motoring out to The Tea Room at Nicholson Avenue. Music and refreshments were enjoyed at this delightful spot. Among those present were Mrs. Letten, Mrs. C. —Mrs. Norris Harris, of New Orleans, and Mrs. Clem Penrose, were delightfully entertained at the Little Tea Room, in Nicholson Avenue, last Monday afternoon, by Mrs. John Stewart, of South Front street. In addition to the delightful and refreshing repast served, Mrs. Stewart's guests enjoyed the pleasant ride and the cozy home-like appearance of the Little Tea Room, with the many lovely flowers along the garden walk.

—The management of Fahey's Drug Store is to be commended for the touch of green and contribution to beautify the town by the number of graceful looking and aromatic coniferous trees and flat cedar dwarf trees planted therein, placed along the edge of the sidewalk in front of their business. This ought to suggest to others the plan of beautifying one's premises and place of business. Frequently it takes so little to accomplish so great results. Fahey's Drug Store has started a good movement in this tropical-like country of ours, and where so many visitors come and go.

—Mrs. John N. Stewart, of South Front street, delightfully entertained a few friends last Tuesday afternoon at The Little Tea Room, Nicholson Avenue. Quite a pleasant time was enjoyed, as Mrs. Stewart's entertainments are always full of life. In fact, her friends across the railroad track to The Little Tea Room she introduced to them something in the line of entertainment quite out of the ordinary, and the rose-scented cottage was indeed a lovely place to rest awhile and eat a bite. Among Mrs. Stewart's guests were Mrs. Walter Cleveland, Miss Marion Fay, Mrs. John Upton, Mrs. John Eastward and Mrs. G. Guion.

—With the completion of the Old Spanish Trail through the county, saved for a small distance, the distance to Logtown is shortened considerably. Residents of that town now make it easily in 30 and 40 minutes. As has been said in these columns, good roads shorten distance and the well exemplifies the assertion. With the rebuilding and grading of all connecting roads it will now be only a short time before every road in Hancock will be in perfect condition, and over this network of highways and connecting links there will be no difficulty in traveling to and fro between the different points. We are paying additional taxes these days, but the taxpayer is receiving full value for every cent put out.

LIME COLAS LOSE TO HEBREWS.

Wally Bontemps Loses Pitcher's Battle After Striking Out Dozen.

Paillet, for Hebrews, Allows But Two Hits.

Dick Cue's Lime Colas were up against a "tough proposition" last Sunday when they crossed bats with Paillet's Hebrews from the Y. M. H. A. of New Orleans, out at Rock-A-Chaw Park, and went down to defeat to the tune of 2-1. It was a beautiful pitcher's duel between Wally Bontemps, for the Colas, and Lefty Paillet, for the Hebrews. Bontemps allowed four hits (two in the first and two in the fifth), neither hit counting for a run. The locals got two singles off the Southpaw. Bontemps struck out an even dozen batters, and Paillet whiffed five. It was a hard battle for our Wally to have to lose.

Both twirlers given gilt-edge support, the game would have gone into extra innings, as all the scoring was accounted for by errors. A bungle by Plotkin in the second inning, after Bontemps had gotten hit by a pitched ball, made easy sailing for Ladner (running for Wally) to score the first tally.

The same stood for the two runs that won the game for the visitors. In the fourth, after Klingner was given an easy out, Paillet's drive, put Klingner on second, where, after some good base running, he scored. This particular run should never have been made, for there were two down with two strikes on the batter, when Catcher Jaubert fired the pill down to second to catch Klingner, who, playing so far off, made third safely and, by dicing running, soon after made home. Paillet, batting at the time, struck out on the next ball.

In the sixth, two errors permitted the Hebrews to ice the game. Errorless ball was played after that, but it was too late to save the bacon from the fire.

Glory should not be taken from Paillet's team, for he twirled a masterful game, and with the one costly exception in the second inning, got beautiful support.

The game by innings: Hebrews, first: Levy hit the ball toward Strong, at second; it looked like an easy out, but just as the Kaiser was about to scoop it up, the pill took a nasty bounce over his head and went for a safety. Adiger, attempting a sacrifice, hit to short, where throw Levy out at second. Klingner flew to left. Paillet hit safely to right on a hit and run play and Adiger landed on third, but died there when Hyman flew out to left.

Lime Colas, first: Strong went by the pitcher to first; Mares singled to left. Viada struck out and Ladner flew to center.

Hebrews, second: Holtzman whiffed; Prince popped to Jaubert, and Plotkin died, Bontemps to Perre.

Lime Colas, second: Bontemps got hit by the second ball pitched, Ladner running for him. Jaubert swung a fly to right, which Plotkin dropped. Jim Collier sacrificed to right and Ladner perched on third. Monteleone walked, killing the bats. There was a chance for some scoring with a good hit—which did not materialize but one tally. Perre hit to short, and was out at first, but Ladner came in with the run. Monteleone was caught off first and ended the chances.

Hebrews, third: Short meter in this inning, as Marx was out, pitcher to left, with Levy and Adiger fanning.

Lime Colas, third: Strong flew to first; Mares died, short to first; Viada got free transportation but was caught stealing second.

Hebrews, fourth: The Jewish lads tied the score in this inning. Klingner, after knocking a half dozen fouls, was given a walk. Paillet was safe on Ladner's error. Hyman flew to left. Holtzman whiffed. With Prince at the bat and two called strikes on him, Jaubert, seeing Klingner was off second, fired the ball to Strong. Klingner headed for third and beat the ball, then on a play to catch him off he broke for the plate and scored easily. Prince struck out.

Lime Colas, fourth: Ladner flew to short left. Wally out, second to first, and Jaubert out, third to first.

Hebrews, fifth: Plotkin whiffed; Marx singled through second; Levy popped to short. Adiger singled to center, but Marx was kept at second and Klingner whiffed.

Lime Colas, fifth: Collier flew to center. Monteleone walked; Perre also got free passage to third; Strong struck out. Mares walked and Viada went out, short to first.

Hebrews, sixth: Paillet hit to short and Perre dropped the throw. Hyman hit a long fly to left which was garnered by Monteleone; Paillet went to second on the throw in and took third when the throw was made. Holtzman raised a long fly to left and Paillet came in with the winning run on the throw in. Prince ended it by going out on a fly to Mares at short.

Lime Colas, sixth: Ladner out, second to first. Wally popped to catcher. Jaubert singled over short, but died on base as Collier went out, third to first.

Hebrews, seventh: E. Hyman, batting for Plotkin, struck out. Marx went down, second to first, and Levy whiffed.

Lime Colas, seventh: Monteleone walked, but was caught at second by Catcher Paillet's throw. Perre whiffed and Strong went down, third to first.

Hebrews, eighth: Adiger whiffed; Klingner out, Ladner to Perre, and Paillet fanned.

Lime Colas, eighth: Mares flew to second. Viada out, third to first, and Ladner flew to short.

Hebrews, ninth: Hyman out, short to first. Holtzman hit fly to short left, which Adiger dropped. Prince and E. Hyman whiffed.

Lime Colas, ninth: Wally fanned. Jaubert walked. It looked as though there would be a score, but Collier fanned and Monteleone flew to first.

Batters: Hebrews, Marx and Paillet. Lime Colas, Bontemps and Ladner. Struck out: By Bontemps 12, by Marx 6. Bases on balls: 12, Bontemps 2, by Marx 6. Hit by pitched ball: Bontemps, Umpire: Solomon.

Quite a bunch of fair rosters accompanied the Y. M. H. A. over and they did not fail to give their team all the yelling and singing support that was in their power.

Wally Bontemps, the local star, was in fine form and pitched about the best game we have ever seen him toss.

With the exception of a couple of foolish kicks by the visitors on base decisions, the game was a very gentlemanly affair.

The park fence is wide open these days. Where there were a few old-fashioned knot-holes, they now have whole planks torn off, through which can be seen the outdoor bleachers enjoying something they don't have to pay for. By the time the College sports start there won't be very much of anything but holes.
